HELP FROM HEXAGON— Looking over the classroom

have speech and hearing difficulties. The school also takes care of students who are termed "aphasic" or unable to comprehend spoken language. Hexagon, which donates its proceeds to charitable institutions around Washington, will produce its eighth original musical revue in March.
